

Submits designs for reverses of half-guineas and sixpences.

Author: Isaac Newton

Source: MINT 19/3/286, National Archives, Kew, Richmond, Surrey, UK

<286r>

To the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of his Majesties Treasury.

May it please your Lordships

Having in a late Memorial signified to your Lordships that the Arms in the fourth Escutcheon on the Reverses of the half Guineas & sixpences may prove too much crouded: for removing the inconvenience I humbly present your Lordships with the Designes hereunto annexed for those Reverses, the same being the chief parts of his Majesties Arms proposed by the Earl Marshal & approved of. And I humbly propose that the same may be laid before his Majesty in Council for his approbation if it be thought fit. All which is most humbly submitted to your Lordships great wisdom

[1]

[1] Mint Office
17 Ian. 171 $\frac{4}{5}$.
