

Judith Cumber: The Examination of Judith Cumber 28 April 1699

Author: Isaac Newton

Source: MINT 15/17/168, National Archives, Kew, Richmond, Surrey, UK

<83r>

[1]

The Examination of Iudith Cumber 28 Aprill 1699

Who saith that she hath been acquainted with Sarah Dobson now in custody about $\frac{1}{2}$ a year but that this Examinant never saw the said Dobson make counterfeit money but this Examinant saith that the said Dobson did latly declare to this Examinant that when M^r. Saker searched the said Dobson's Lodging room she had a six pence in her pocket which was Dyer's money and that at the same time there was some counterfeit money under a meal bagg upon a shelf in the {sai}d room of the said Dobson at the search aforesaid which was likewise Dyers money as Dobson said to this Examinant.

Iudith Cumber

[2]

[1] 168

[2] Cap^t. die et anno preedict
coram Is Newton
