

Letter from Newton to John Collins, dated 30 July 1672

Author: Isaac Newton

Source: MS Add. 9597/2/18/25, Cambridge University Library, Cambridge, UK

Published online: February 2013

<25r>

July 30th 1672.
Cambridg.

Sir

To your last I sent you an answer out of Northamptonshire which I hope you received & therefore shall not repeat the particulars. Onely I add that if M^r Gregory yet expects my answer of his Problem I will work it & send it to you, though to your selfe I beleive it will not be very gratefull. Yesterday I spoke with a Bookseller here about the translation of Kinkhuysen who upon my motion was willing to take it off of M^r Pitts his hand at 3^{lb}, but he has not yet seen the Book. Varenius is newly out of Presse, a Copy of which I send you by this Bearer John Stiles. And this Sir is all at present from

Your humble

Servant

I. Newton

The Bookeseller desired me to acquaint you that Varennius will sold by M^r Martin if any of your Friends desire it.

<25av>

These

To his Honoured Friend
M^r John Collins at M^r William Austin's house over against the Adam & Eve in Petty France in

Westminster

London

with a Packet
