Whereas Moyders one with another are not worth above one pound seven shillings & seven pence farthing a piece, & by reason of their being a forreign coyn & the charge of recoinning {hav}e of late {then} received at 1<sup>li</sup>. 7<sup>s</sup> 6<sup>d</sup> a piece by the approbation of the Lord Commissioners of his Majestys Treasury & yet Edward Elliot Es<sup>r</sup> Paymaster for for the si{xt} contracts & Francis Manaton Es<sup>r</sup> Receiver general of the land-tax have give publick notice that they & others (under pretence of advancing trade in Cornwall) will from henceforward receive & pay all Moyders at one pound eight shillings: This is to give notice that the paying away forreign money without the royal authority, for more then the just value, is a fraud upon the people of England like that of putting away light or clipt money, tho not yet made punishable by law, & that the said Receivers & others ought to forbear assisting the Merchants in putting away Moyders at more then the just value till they have authority for what they do.
