

Requests a pyx trial for the coming summer, it being three years since the last one.

Author: Isaac Newton

Source: MINT 19/1/233, National Archives, Kew, Richmond, Surrey, UK

<233r>

To the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of his Majesties Treasury.

May it please your Lordships

There having been coined almost a million and an half in gold & silver since the last trial of the Pix which was three years ago, I humbly pray that the Pix of this coinage may be tried this summer

Which is most humbly submitted to your Lordships great wisdom

[1]

Isaac Newt{on}

[1] Mint Office June 18th 1724.
